THE WANT AD SEESES MORE PEOPLE IN ONE DAY THAN YOU CAN SEE IN A MONTHAMERICAN IS KING OF ARCTIC ISLE

Massachusetts Squatter Sovereign Undisputed of Bleak Icebound Land Would Come Under U. S. Protection.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 8.—The Massachusetts squatter sovereign of an arctic island domain is looking for adoption by the American or some other nation. He has made investments in mining lands in Spitzbergen, a near neighbor of the North pole, and seeks the protection of a flag, having, however, already hoisted the stars and stripes.

An interest of a romantic sort attaches to the individual who has upon some way of acquiring independence, or better, creating a practicable industry, on a remote island. Perhaps it is a survival of our days of desperation in the story of "Robinson Crusoe." To think of being able to do so.

"I am monarch of all I survey;
My right there is none to dispute;
From the center all round to the sea
I am lord of the town and the brave"—

Is to surround the most prosaic interests with the glamor of sovereign independence.

Of course there are very few islands the ownership of which carries with it internationally conceded sovereignty.

ARIZONA TO PUBLISH BAEDEKER GUIDE

Doctor Wilde Conceives Idea of Preparing Book With Detailed Information of Points of Interest in Territory.

Tucson, Ariz., Aug. 8.—Dr. Wilde, president of the University of Arizona, has conceived the idea of publishing a sort of guide book similar to the Baedeker's published for the benefit of tourists abroad, which will enable health-seekers and tourists to get what information they may desire as to the scenery and points of interest in the territory. The scheme has received the hearty endorsement of the Phoenix Chamber of Commerce.

This, it was urged, would enable the tourist, health seeker or prospective settler in the east to realize the fact that climatic conditions here are quite as varied and desirable as those of California, to say the least; also, that Arizona possesses unrivaled opportunities for the investment of the eastern dollar in mine, orchard, farm and industrial development.

Dr. Wilde, meantime realizing the need of all sections of Arizona to get together, learn more of their respective conditions and communities, and work for the common cause of the upbuilding of the budding state, suggested to Professor Chandler of the department of economics of the University of Arizona the value that might be derived for the University and the territory at large by journeying throughout Arizona, knowing the people and gathering data for publication that would be recognized as trustworthy information by the easterner.

The Prescott Chamber of Commerce joined enthusiastically in Dr. Wilde's idea, suggesting that Prof. Chandler confer with the secretary of each civic body in the center of each section thus exploited, write an exhaustive account of the resources and possibilities of each and include the whole in an Arizona guidebook, which might answer every question for the seeker of information on the subject of Arizona.

There can be no doubt of the good the proposed compendium will do. With the University of Arizona as publishers, the work will command an absolute confidence of its readers. It will, moreover, undoubtedly result in a much larger influx of honored men and women into Arizona, a class which has alighted, for the lack of such authoritative and conclusive information, too often passed through its domain without dreaming of the resources and opportunities for investment that are to be found within its borders.
